

2010 HSA Contribution Limits

Did you know?

Annual contribution limits for Health Savings Accounts (HSAs) are adjusted each year for inflation. Below are the contribution limits and health plan deductible requirements that will be in effect for 2009.

Annual HSA Contribution Limits

- For calendar year 2010, the contribution limit for an individual with self-only coverage under a high deductible health plan is $3,050.
- For calendar year 2010, the contribution limit for an individual with family coverage under a high deductible health plan is $6,150.
- Individuals who are age 55 and older by year end can make an additional “catch-up” contribution of up to $1,000 in 2010.

High Deductible Health Plan

- For calendar year 2010, an HSA-qualified “high deductible health plan” is defined as a health plan with an annual deductible of at least $1,200 for self-only coverage and at least $2,400 for family coverage.
- Maximum annual out-of-pocket expenses (including deductibles, co-payments, and other amounts but not premiums) are $5,950 for self-only coverage and $11,900 for family coverage.
